Entered in The Post Office at Weymouth, Mass.,
as Second Class Matter.

FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1910.

The Gazette & Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoons, and is for sale at all news-stands in the Weymouth and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fee is charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line in the reading matter, or regular rates in the advertising columns.

People are looking for houses in nearly every part of Weymouth and a hundred new modern houses could find tenants at once. Who will be the builder?

The Mansfield News says that there is a physician to every 500 inhabitants of that town, and that they are all making a good living but our friend "Billy" White does not say what the 500 are doing.

March is generally supposed to be a month of blizzards and storm but the only one which hit Massachusetts in the month just passed was in the 14th Congressional District and weather prophets are now forecasting for next September and October a like month.

The Charlestown Enterprise in discussing adulterated food says the man has not arrived who can adulterate an egg without breaking the shell. Some people however think that many of the eggs which are sold as fresh might as well be adulterated.

The Alabama News says that sheep and goats are more profitable than dogs, yet, there are more dogs than the country than of the other two animals combined. Al-bama is a long way off but the same condition exists in Weymouth and there are many dogs which might be exchanged for a sheep or goat thereby benefiting the man of the dog and incidentally conferring a favor to the public.

Monday Club.

The next meeting will be held in Masonic hall on Monday, April 4, at 7:30 p.m.
Ex-Governor John D. Long will be the speaker. There will be vocal selections rendered by Miss Georgia Belle Merrill, second soprano of Mozart quartette.

Annual dues will be received on this afternoon as well as at the second meeting of the month. The subject of Mr.
Long's address will be "The Navy."

This will be an open meeting for men and women.

Old Colony Club.

The Old Colony Club and its regular meeting March twenty-fourth in the Union church. A Siamese concert was given under the direction of Mrs. L. W.
Atwood. The program was carried out by the following: Miss May Belle G. Dade-mon, soprano; Percy Baker, baritone; William Howard, violin; Paul Brown, cello; Frank Luker, piano; Miss Helen Klebsch, pianist; Mrs. L. W. Atwood, accompanist. The numbers were well rendered, well arranged and very beautiful.

The annual Children's Day entertainment will be held in the Fogg opera house at 3:30 p.m. on April 7, the date having been changed from April 14, as announced in the year book. Miss Marie Ware Langton, assisted by children whom she has trained will present "Golden Hair and the Three Bears."

Tenements Wanted.

The Geo. E. Keith Co., has found its sale of women's shoes increasing, to such an extent that it has become necessary to provide for additional accommodations.
They prefer to add to their Weymouth plant rather than seek new factory space elsewhere. The proposed addition will enable them to increase their production to about three thousand pairs daily, giving employment to about 250 to 300 additional help. The Company however feel that it is absolutely necessary in view of the proposed enlargement of their plant, that steps be taken by local people to provide tenements for these new employees.
Those who are interested in coming to the building, I cordially invite them to make such use of the building and its privileges as are available. I would also like to meet any groups of boys or young men who would like to use the Athletic Field and arrange a schedule for their use.
Whatever I can do for your advantage and the right use of the building, I want to do.

EMERY L. BRAUNTON,
Secretary.

Union Church Notes.

The special services held during "Holy Week" were quiet, devotional and reverent in spirit. Rev. C. F. Hill Crather on Tuesday evening spoke on "Love's Sacrifice," the incident which describes Mary, the sister of Lazarus, whom Christ had raised from the dead, breaking the alabaster cruse of ointment over the head of the Saviour.

On Wednesday evening Rev. Thomas Simons spoke on Christ's relationship to his disciples—why He had called them and what He expected them to do.

Rev. R. H. Cochran on Thursday evening spoke on "The Trial of Jesus," and Rev. Edward Evans of Holbrook, on Friday evening, spoke on "The Crucifixion."

The Ladies' Benevolent Society will hold their regular monthly meeting in the church parlor on Wednesday afternoon, April 6, at 2:30 o'clock.

The regular monthly supper of the Social club will be held in the banquet room of the church on Wednesday evening, April 6, at 6:30 o'clock. After the supper there will be an entertainment provided.

NORTH WEYMOUTH.

Next Wednesday evening organ, piano, cello and baritone concert, M. E. church, East Weymouth.

Mrs. F. L. Spear entertained a party of friends at an Easter breakfast last Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Miller have moved from Mr. Clements' house on Sea street to their summer home at Wessagussett.

Mrs. B. F. Thomas is ill at her home on Sea street.

Miss Nettie Dow of Dorchester was in town, Monday.

Last Thursday afternoon the summer home of James Durnin of Boston, on Hobomack road, Wessagussett, was burned flat to the ground and several of the cottages nearby caught fire. The cause of the fire was an accidental overturning of a lamp which exploded and set fire to the furnishings, so quickly that nothing was saved. A motor boat and a motor cycle were among Mr. Durnin's belongings lost in the blaze.

The snails have been up in the hering brook in great numbers the past few days.

John P. Kennedy, who has been bug-master at the East Weymouth station for years, has accepted the position as janitor of Keith's factory.

Thomas M. McCleary and Mrs.

Emma Walker of Grant street were married at Somerville, Monday, March 28.

Rev. George G. Scrivener, pastor of the Methodist church spent Tuesday at Attleboro.

The Sunday School of the Methodist church held an Easter concert in the vestry of the church last Sunday evening.

The program was an interesting one of music and recitations appropriate to the season.

Mrs. Newman Page of Bridgeport, Conn., made an Easter visit with local friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. French attended the wedding of their neice, Miss Louise Ford, at the Congregational church, Hyde Park, Monday evening.

Mrs. Mabel Robbins of Waltham, Conn., has been the guest of her aunts the past week.

Mrs. Ang. White has been entertaining her cousin, Miss Pierce of Waltham the past two weeks.

Miss Alice Ferris is at home on a vacation.

A large house has been started on the spot of building on the knoll off Sea street this week. Mr. Perry of Cambridge has designed, E. N. Hollis has been substituting this week.

The annual meeting of the ladies' cemetery circle will be held next Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. D. J. Sampson, Shaw street.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. French were the guests of Mrs. Caroline Thayer over Sunday.

Miss Mabel Robbins of Waltham, Conn., has been the guest of her aunts the past week.

Mrs. Ang. White has been entertaining her cousin, Miss Pierce of Waltham the past two weeks.

Miss Alice Ferris is at home on a vacation.

The last meeting of the season of the Good Fellowship club connected with the Congregational church, was held Monday night. The special guest and speaker of the evening was Stanton H. King, superintendent of the Sailor's Haven at Charlestown. A reception was held in the parlors from 6 to 6:30 and then came the supper in charge of Chas. D. Gibson, Abbot L. Spinnery, Frederick H. Langhurst, Elmer E. Leonard and Fred H. Pratt.

Rev. G. G. Scrivener invoked blessing and 100 members and guests proceeded to discuss the fine menu, which was well served.

Rev. E. L. Bradford, originator of the club, opened the later exercises with slight allusions to the past and a statement that this was probably the last meeting at which he would preside and a hope that the club would resume its work in the fall and conclude his remarks by introducing Mr. King as the speaker of the hour.

Mr. King is a native of Barbados, British W. I., and began a sailor's life when he was but ten years and spent many years in the Merchant Marine service and in the United States Navy, and his theme was, "My Life Work as a Sailor and Among Sailors," and it goes without saying that Mr. King is one of the best entertainers of the season.

Benoni Gurney Dead.

After a long illness Benoni Gurney passed away at the home of his daughter Mrs. Henry Roberts, 58 Shawmut street, East Weymouth, last week, aged 87 yrs., 6 mos. and 14 days.

Mr. Gurney was a son and Benoni and Mrs. Henry Roberts were the parents.

Even if we have had an unusual dry spell there is no call for such a variation of grass and woods fires as we have been having the past two weeks. They are the result of gross carelessness or criminal action and when they do occur it would seem that people are reckless in calling out the fire department as was the case last Sunday when Wards 2 and 3 were called to the same fire.

If you see a man coming with a large book under his arm don't think he is a book agent but rather take it for granted he is one of the assessors and is complying with the new law which opens up the assessors new book April 1st instead of May 1st as heretofore and when you have learned the man is an assessor be frank with him and if you have anything of value which is "not in sight" tell him all about it and what it is worth. Help the town to get an honest valuation and a tax rate which shall be a credit to all parties concerned and thereby help along the good time that is coming our way.

Obituary Mrs. Maria A. Baker.

Another link which connected the press with the past, was severed in the death of Mrs. Maria Baker, widow of Col. Howard Baker, who passed away at her home on Union Street, South Weymouth, Monday morning, having reached her ninetieth milestone. Mrs. Baker was born in Salmon, Maine, November 22, 1829, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bartholomew B. Boies, both natives of Bedford, N. H. She was educated in the schools of Skowhegan, Maine, and afterwards taught in the public schools in Cambridge, where a grand daughter is still teaching.

Her marriage to Col. Baker took place at Parlin Pond, Maine in 1859, when they resided for a while, afterwards moving to Massachusetts. Since the death of her husband in 1888, her youngest son, Howard, has made his home with her.

She was a woman of sterling worth and of a most genial disposition, retaining her interest in the current events of the day to the last. Her bright and active memory recalled many incidents of her childhood when her home was at Parlin Pond in the wilderness of Maine and her nearest neighbors being sixteen miles distant. Her father kept a hotel and store and the Indians came there to trade their furs for groceries and provisions.

She is survived by six children, Mrs. Ira W. May of Ayon, Hon. C. H. Baker of Lynn, W. S. Baker and Howard Baker of South Weymouth, M. F. Baker of Atlantic and George W. Baker of Brooklyn, besides fifteen grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at her late home on Union street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. Rev. L. W. Atwood conducted the services, interment was in the family lot in Mount Hope cemetery.

W. R. C. Notes.

The Good of the Order Committee will meet Friday afternoon April 15, 1910, with Mrs. Elizabeth Nash of Weymouth.

Reynolds W. R. C. No. 102 will hold its next regular meeting in G. A. R. hall at East Weymouth, Tuesday April 12th, at 2:30 p.m. After the meeting there will be a social supper and entertainment. The entertainment will be in charge of Conradine Andy Bicknell.

At the Department Convention, W. R. C. held in Shawmut church, Boston April 6th, Mrs. Mary E. Hollbrook of South Weymouth, and a member of Reynolds W. R. C. No. 102, was elected Junior Vice Dept. Pres., by a very flattering vote.

Weymouth High School Alumni Association.

At a recent meeting of the Executive committee of the Weymouth High School Alumni Association, it was decided to hold a reunion this year in June, date to be announced later. The committee is already at work preparing the program which promises to be unusually entertaining.

The committee is very desirous of adding to the list of members, believing that a large and strong Alumni Association has in its power to do much good in many ways to become a factor in the community for the welfare and progress of the schools.

In order to cement the Alumni into a stronger and better organized body, it is hoped that the list of past pupils, now in the secretary's hands, may be carried nearer completion. The former secretary, Herbert Newton, made a strong effort to obtain lists of the older members and this record, though far from complete, is well advanced and the present secretary hopes to carry it on.

The committee feels that the association should comprise not only the graduates of the H. S., but all those who were pupils long enough to be interested in its welfare.

KATE PIERCE THAYER,
Secretary.

EUROPEAN TRAVEL NO. 10.

Constantinople.

Dear Marie:—
Whilst awaiting the re-opening of the Bazaar, we took a beautiful drive along the inlet called the "Sweet Waters of Europe" to visit the late Sultan's summer palace, which is aptly called the "Delight of the Opening Flowers and Bubbling Springs." Everywhere in the spacious gardens, waters were singing, sometimes as tinkling fountains whose feathered sprays fell on glistening bowls, again as gurgling rivulets dashed over marble falls. The air was filled with the liquid notes of cascades, and one could picture the delight of the city worn dweller on summer nights in such cool surroundings.

Under the trees even now fragrant with spicy buds, were spread masses of flowering plants. These were arranged in every dainty fashion and during the flowering season these walks must wind through gorgeous beds of every colored flower. Here and there under spreading branches, or vine capped bower, were broad marble divans, not mere seats, but ample couches wherein the ladies of the palace could recline at ease with their jeweled slippers tucked Turk fashion under their silken trousers. Ordinarily this place is never open to the outside world, but the revolution has changed many customs and old barriers no longer restrain.

The Palace itself was but two stories in height. The lower was devoted to the service and the upper consisting of a series of elaborately decorated rooms, all opening into each other and every one rich in gold and silver arabesques on walls and ceiling. Broad divans bordered every wall and exquisite silkens rugs were piled on floor every day.

The bath rooms, and there were at least a dozen, were lined with polished Carrara marble, and the bath itself was of the same material sunk deep in the floor and reached by a small flight of steps. Much of the marble was exquisitely carved into flowers and running rivers, but in no part of the palace was there a representation of the figures of man or woman. Mahomed with the intention of freezing his prototypies forever from image worship, absolutely forbade either picture or statue of the human form. Hence, all the decorations were in graceful curves of flower or vine. It was told that this one which is "not in sight" tell all him about it and what it is worth. Help the town to get an honest valuation and a tax rate which shall be a credit to all parties concerned and thereby help along the good time that is coming our way.

The arrangements were well planned and most easily executed. Mr. Loud invited as guests of the evening the "Greatest Commercial Tourist of New England," the retail grocers of Weymouth and vicinity, the Board of Selectmen of Weymouth and others to the extent of which he could invite.

The store presented a unique appearance, while counters and shelves showed a large and varied stock of goods for the trade, the center of the store was turned into a beautiful banquet hall with heavily laden tables.

From six-thirty to seven o'clock Mr. Loud was busy holding the reception and then came the banquet which was a Waldorf-Astoria affair from oysters on the half shell to ice cream and cake with Babes and Humphrey caterers and then Edgar Power of Boston was introduced as master of ceremonies. Mr. Power is a salesman and it is evident that he has great skill in his line.

The arrangements were well planned and most easily executed. Mr. Loud invited as guests of the evening the "Greatest Commercial Tourist of New England," the retail grocers of Weymouth and vicinity, the Board of Selectmen of Weymouth and others to the extent of which he could invite.

At the end of ten years of his proprietorship Mr. Loud celebrated the event by a banquet and entertainment at his store. The event was highly enjoyed and rated as a first class success, but when compared with a celebration of the fifteenth anniversary which took place Wednesday night, last, it grew pale.

The store presented a unique appearance, while counters and shelves showed a large and varied stock of goods for the trade, the center of the store was turned into a beautiful banquet hall with heavily laden tables.

From six-thirty to seven o'clock Mr. Loud was busy holding the reception and then came the banquet which was a Waldorf-Astoria affair from oysters on the half shell to ice cream and cake with Babes and Humphrey caterers and then Edgar Power of Boston was introduced as master of ceremonies. AN ODD WEDDING.

One day as I was about to leave my study a young couple came hurrying in and asked me to marry them. I dislike very much to marry persons thus hurriedly about whom I know nothing, and in this case I especially hesitated. The man, though refined looking, was dressed in clothes more befitting a workman than a gentleman. He was pale-faced, thin, and weak. The woman he had met was in poor health and to the sunlight, which he seemed to be in good health.

However, there seemed to be no objection to my uniting them, both being of age. I told them to come into my study and I would accommodate them. We had barely gone inside and the couple taken position before me when quick footsteps were heard without.

The man lost what color he had before.

"Go on," said the lady to me impatiently.

But before I could do so two men rushed in. One of them, glancing at the man to whom we had just given our consent, said, "All right; we grant you the franchise." The man lost what color he had before.

"Go on," said the lady to me impatiently.

Miss Ella Curtis has accepted a position at the George E. Keith Co. factory.

Miss Mary Peaseley of East street spent her vacation with her cousin in Jamaica Plain.

Mr. Kimball of Middle street, who has been confined to his home for some time with pneumonia, is reported as recovering.

—The Methodist church was closed Sunday on account of the pastor being away for conference and not only the people of his own church but all others are pleased to learn that Rev. G. G. Sorrieman is returned to the East Weymouth church for another year.

—This is a record breaking season and even the celebrated Weymouth hearing come in for a share of the honor and are eight days ahead of any previous record.

Several thousand were taken on Wednesday and found a ready market and on Thursday there was another catch, a part of which was taken to the pond for which

The last meeting of the Ladies Social circle for the season will be held next Wednesday evening, the 13th. The usual supper will be followed by an entertainment.

Mr. S. Wilson Bailey will explain the "Problems of Mystery." Mrs. R. Holtman will give a group of bird songs and also waltz songs, and Miss Ethel F. Raymond will entertain with instrumental music.

The following officers have been elected for the ensuing school year.

President, R. H. Whiting; vice president, Mrs. E. Pratt; clerk, F. H. Torrey; treasurer, A. W. Bartlett; trustees, J. H. Tower, W. O. Collier, A. C. Burrell, together with the president and vice president.

—Miss Claire Gilbert of Providence, Rhode Island, has returned to her home after having been spending the last few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Louis Cook Jr. of Union street.

—Warren Bates entertained Miss Marion Raymond of Radcliffe college, last Friday evening in showing her the most historic places of the town.

—Mr. and Mrs. William A. Cook of Norfolk were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lowell, last Sunday.

—William Hollis has broken ground for a new house on Thicket street.

—People in the vicinity of 54 were suddenly awakened from their slumber by the blowing of the fire whistle for a fire at the home of Mr. Nada of Main street, Wednesday morning, about 3 o'clock.

The fire had broken through the roof of the fire and the Pond Flamingers had set out there with assistance. The house is thought to have started in the chimney, owing to leaving the damper wide open, and having such a hot fire in the stove.

The fire burned most of the interior before it had broken out and the house was a complete wreck. The quick arrival of the fire company prevented the surrounding houses which were in much danger from catching fire.

—Large parties are to be seen every afternoon in the vicinity of the Pratt school and thereabouts looking for those beautiful flowers known as "Mayflowers," which are to be found at that place.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Miller are spending the week with friends in Jacksonville, Florida.

—Albert Domero is building an addition piece on his fruit store in Columbian square, thereby improving the looks of the square on a whole and accomodating his own business more easily.

—Howard Maybury of Ashmont is spending the week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chubbuck.

—George Walker has purchased the Cady house at Wessagusset.

—Fred Blanchard of South Weymouth has purchased the Blanchard estate on North street and is making extensive repairs.

—Sidney Beant of Dartmouth is having a new house on Tower avenue.

—Albert F. Clapp is enlarging his stable on Pleasant street.

—Allen Henderson restored his study

GATHERED UP.

Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy.—Emerson.

Ridicule is the first and last argument of fools.—Simmons.

"Talk," said Uncle Eben, "is supin' like rain. A certain amount is welcome and necessary. But doggone de下げ."

The moral is plain as all may see: If we would esteem for wisdom, be it most renowned of men among us. We must early learn to hold the tongue.

While we are determined to be fair to every one, it strikes us that it needs a colossal gall in a person or organization who patronizes another printer for all their job work and depends on the local paper for free advertising.

"What started him on the road to success?" "Well, I'm not sure; but I think his parents had something to do with it in bringing him up from babyhood in the idea that he was one of the marvels of the age."

A siring hen knows a thing or two, so do not disturb her when hatching any more than necessary. Do not move hen and chicks from the nest, until the chicks have gained some strength.

"I want a few colored illustrations of bees and tomatoes."

"Life size?" inquired the artist.

"Catalogue size," replied the seedsman, with a significant smile.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Especially in early hatches, care should be taken not to set a hen until she is thoroughly broody. It does not take much experience to know when a hen is really broody. She will be very fussy when approached and cling close to the nest when the hand is placed under her.

A good cow is young. She should not be more than 4 or 5 years when you buy her. The next four years will be her best. You want her during that time. The good cow will have a good, big bag and fair-sized teats. She can't get milk without some place for storing it. Then follow the milk vein up and see if it be large, entering the body through a good-sized aperture.

A good water font is easily prepared for little chicks by filling a shallow pan with pebbles not quite as large as walnuts. Then fill with water. The chicks can drink between the pebbles and won't get wet or drowned. If it is too much trouble for you to keep pure, fresh drinking water before the chicks constantly, also, the older fowls, better let chicken raising alone. For it is no occupation for a lazy person.—Fannie M. Wood.

An Irishman refused to pay his doctor bill, and when asked his reason for it, he said: "And, sure, what shall I pay for? He didn't give me anything but emetics, and never a one could I keep on my stomach at all."

So you believe in marrying for love?

Yes, to a certain extent," replied the fair widow, "but marrying for love with a side issue of bread and butter is like sipping the froth from a glass of soda water."—Chicago News.

The flower will fade and the grass will wither, but we may not make very much of storing the withered stock and the faded petal in the old scrapbooks of our lives. How many a man has become old and sour and useless, holding on to the things which he should let go! Then the salvation in a moving world is to keep moving with the world, and to keep pace with the divine spirit that every morning makes all things new.

Housecleaning time is here and well may we ruminant as follows:

Oh, dear to our hearts are the sad days of springtime, when the annual housecleaning recurs to our view, when we sleep on the sofa and eat off the mantle, in an atmosphere strongly suggestive of glue: we think of the stove pipe, the soot that came with it and sweet expressions so fluent and fine, but the saddest and most bitter of all recollections, is the dusty old carpet that hangs on the line. Oh, that dusty old carpet, that rusty old carpet, that musty old carpet that hangs on the line.—Marshfield News.

It has been found by experiments at one of the New York stations that the soil mixture best adapted for forcing head lettuce is of rather compact texture and contains a good portion of fine sand, clay and silt, moderately lightened with fairly well-rotted manure. It was also found that after a heavy application of stable manure, any further addition of chemical fertilizers is only thrown away. Chemical fertilizers give best results on sandy soils, fairly well-rotted stable manure on clay soils.

The poultry house should be located upon the best drained soil available on the farm. The sunniest soil that will still grow crops is desired for poultry.

If the poultry house is located on pure sand there will be no green crop or insect life for the fowls to furnish feed and amusement, and then results will be little better than bare board floors.

While there are some apple growers who spray their trees once before the buds open in the spring, there are more who spray the sprout mixture first, as the petals of the blossoms are falling, and if but one application is to be made this is decidedly the best time to make it. The earlier spraying is for fungous diseases, while the one made just as the blossoms are falling is for both fungous diseases and insects.

The Whistle Tankard.

A rare form of drinking vessel is in the possession of the corporation of Hull. This is a whistle tankard which belonged to Thomas Lambert, mayor of Hull in 1669. This fine silver tankard is of old English make, which comes into play when the tankard is empty and is intended to be used as a signal for ale or beer liquor. It is said that only one other whistle tankard is to be found in England, so temperate is England now!—London Chronicle.

A Good Alarm Clock.

Husband—Why don't you have the clock shut the kitchen door? One can smell the breakfast cooking all over the house. Wife—We leave it open on purpose.

The smell is all that gets the family up.—Judge.

No Terminal Facilities.

"They say Harold Coddington has brain fever."

"Impossible! Could an anglerworm have water on the knee?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Beauty is part of the finished language by which goodness speaks.—Elliot.

ON THE FARM

When you hurry about milking, the cow feels uncomfortable and shortens up on you a little. That hurts you and hurts the cow as well.

Everybody is impatient to begin the spring work, but it were wise to temper impatience with good judgment and to wait until all the conditions are right.

There is a great shortage in the hog crop throughout the whole country, and it can only be replaced by keeping the best broad sows and growing more pigs.

Just as nearly as you can, grow all the stock you will, need for your family and your stock right at home this year. One thing that keeps a good many men poor is buying what they ought to raise themselves.

A singing hen knows a thing or two, so do not disturb her when hatching any more than necessary. Do not move hen and chicks from the nest, until the chicks have gained some strength.

"I want a few colored illustrations of bees and tomatoes."

No animal on the farm is better adapted to turning good feed quickly into marketable meat than the hog, and none can be reared, from a market standpoint, a more rewarding system of feeding. This is particularly true of the first costs, for the hog is by nature planned to utilize the less expensive feeds and will manufacture more pork per unit of meat than otherwise be reckoned of little value, if not waste.

Just according to the system of care and management given the dairy herd will depend the profit or loss. Dealing with the herd as a herd is a mistake; each cow should be judged as an individual, and on her own merits. It should not only be known the quantity of milk each cow gives but also the amount of butter fat she yields. It does not mean necessarily that because a cow gives 4 percent of butter fat, she is more profitable than one giving milk testing at 3 percent.

FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1910.

The Gazette & Transcript is printed and mailed Friday afternoons, and is for sale at all news-stands in the Weymouths and at the South Terminal, Boston.

All communications must be accompanied with the name of the writer, and unpublished communications cannot be returned by mail unless stamps are enclosed.

Notices of all local entertainments to which admission fees is charged must be paid for at regular rates, 10 cents per line in the reading matter, or regular rates in the advertising columns.

W. R. C. Notes.

Reynolds W. R. C. meeting held at G. A. Hall, East Weymouth, Tuesday, April 12th, was well attended and several guests from neighboring corps were present. After the meeting a sale of candy, cake, domestic and mystery articles was held. Supper was served to about 150 veterans, corps members and guests. The same was in charge of Mrs. Eunice Rowell, assisted by the Weymouth corps leader. The hall was filled to overflowing to listen to the entertainment given by Conrad Andy Buckell, which consisted of a minstrel show and was enjoyed and appreciated by all present.

The next regular meeting of the corps will be held in G. A. Hall, Thursday, April 28th at 7:30 p. m.

Monday Club.

The next meeting will be held in Mason Hall, April 18, at 2:30 p. m. This is the annual meeting and the treasurer will receive dues for the coming year.

A social will follow the business of the afternoon.

This will be the last afternoon for the Exchange Table and the management requests a generous donation of cake, as the demand is in excess of the supply.

County Christian Endeavor.

The annual Norfolk County Christian Endeavor Convention will be held this year at South Weymouth, April 19, in the Old South Church. There will be an afternoon session at 1:30, banquet at 5:45, and an evening session at 7:15.

The annual conventions have been increasing in popularity every year, and a large attendance is expected. Exceptionally strong speakers have been securing among them Rev. Dr. J. Stucking of Newtonville, popular with the collegians of New England; Rev. C. H. M. Maldon, a former vice-president of the State Union and prominent convention speaker; Mrs. C. W. Kneeland of Worcester; State Superintendent of Junior C. E. work; and Mr. George W. Lögge of Somerville, formerly treasurer of the State C. E. Union.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The dance for the benefit of the Athletic Association will take place April 22, and the tickets are in charge of Thomas McFarr. It will be necessary for those who are going to attend to procure tickets immediately as they are being sold rapidly. Music will be furnished by Maximus orchestra. Special cars will leave for all parts of the town at 12 o'clock.

All classes are occupied in preparing for the regular bi-monthly examinations.

The senior physics class is conducting a series of interesting experiments concerning light.

The base ball team will open its season Saturday at Wakefield. All of the players are in fine condition and the numerous hard practice games have shown it to be a remarkably fast team and Wakefield will surely feel the strength of its heavy hitters.

A meeting of the senior class was held in room 6 Thursday afternoon. Alice Cullen was chosen to be class historian, Harold Hawes, and Helen Richards as class proprieites and Milton Hawkes as marshal. A committee consisting of Ruth Field, Grace Buckell and Irving Dunbar was appointed by the president to select a new motto for the class to decide upon later.

Something in May the school will give the concert. The "Building of the Ship" under the direction of Miss Nash, will be the highlight of the evening. Solo and ensemble will render the solos and music will be heard from a school orchestra.

The subject for the evening's entertainment at the reception in June was discussed and it was decided to give a play, Miss Curtis, Miss Hoyt and Miss Sheedy will have entire charge of its production and have several plays under consideration.

The visitors this week were Leighton Thompson, Margaret Head, Helen Courtney, Jessie Wilson, Marshal Tirrell, Bertha Heily, Sidney Bean, Bessie Briggs and Florence Cook.

A COMMON ERROR.

The Same Mistake is Made by Many Weymouth People.

It's a common error To plaster the aching back, To rub with liniments rheumatic joints, When the trouble comes from the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills, And are endorsed by Weymouth citizens.

Mrs. J. Duxhermer, 25 Hunt street, Weymouth, Mass., says: "It is a pleasure for me to publicly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I think very favorably of them. I was bothered for ten years by a painful back and although I tried plasters and remedies every number I did not receive the slightest benefit. Finally I began the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Weymouth New York, and they took hold of my case at once. After I had finished the contents of the box, I felt so much better that I continued their use until I was permanently cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Post-Millburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Here and There in Washington.

Washington, D. C., April 2, 1910. As a city for shoppers, Washington is not radically different from other cities, yet it has its own merits to which the new-comer must adjust himself.

If the new resident comes from a northern city, the rather slow and deliberate manner of most of the clerks gives a feeling of being lost, especially if the shopping is undertaken very soon after arrival, before the hurry and "step lively" method have been dissipated after this time-to-space, languid air—not to use a shorter and more common word, may be guilty even of impatience on being told in slow and measured tones, "No, we do not have it," when his own eyes have beheld the longest for article. Why this apparent mistreatment? The shopper did not ask in accustomed words and the clerk lacked imagination.

Another striking feature which the Washington misses here is the scarcity of checks on the streets. The dweller in town and busy Boston can never lose his train for lack of inexorable hands on whom present checks pointing to the swift passage of time. If a visitor to the Hub crosses the plain Common, there is Borden's Corner with its Christopher Wren's simple warning sign that time and eternity are one and it behoves him to get a hasty on, does he wish to see the spot where Old Franklin was born or where Old Boston held high court in the Province House when his excellency the Governor of the Colony of Massachusetts had their in state, across the way is the stern finger of time on the tower of the old South Church telling him that men's days are as the grass and are passing away. Small shops and tall office buildings with each other in letting him know that time is money, and if he runs, he can catch the 5:30 p. m. train for somewhere instead of walking to the 5:15. Time here is manifested by the revolution of the earth upon its axis, and if he has no time piece of his own, the visitor will have to walk magnitudinal distances to find Uncle Sam's long up for his constellation.

If a visitor to the Hub crosses the Post office building at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue was a welcome sight to one new-comer, before the get-there-quick feeling was toned down to get-there-on-time.

If the new resident is from New England and a housekeeper, her first marketing experiences hold for her another surprise. In New England the one who does the marketing, rather slowly selects her wares, puts on a knowing look as chickens are held up for her criticism, picks the top leaf from a pineapple and leisurely surveys all things laid before her. Having adjusted herself here to the slow methods and understanding of clerks in the shopping district she is a little "blustered" by the bustle of the market man. She meditatively asks for a certain commodity and in a twixt it is slapped on the scales, flung into a paper sack, thumped down on the counter, and "What Else?" comes in staccato tones from the clerk. She was just wondering herself and naturally feels a little bewildered to have her thoughts translated briskly by one holding a decided, expectant attitude. It took several days for one Yankee to be prepared with the right answer to that unfailing "What Else?" She wrote her list before starting out, not exactly on her finger nails, as bad boys have been known to write to help schools examinations, but on a small piece of paper held closely in the hand; when the first "What Else?" was exploded she retold it with a rapid fire that kept things lively till her order was filled.

The meat, fish and groceries are bought here in very many smaller stores, so that the large markets are not patronized by small buyers, unless the housekeeper prefers to go a-marketing. These smaller markets are very popular, their trade requiring several teams to deliver the packages. The large markets close at one o'clock in the afternoon daily, except Saturday, when ten in the evening is closing. Outside the market, beside the curb, is always an interesting group of colored men and women with the produce from their own little farms neatly arranged on temporary tables. Do you want wild flowers, pussy willows, marsh marigolds, dandelion greens, or the ordinary farm produce, they have them attractively arranged for your selection. Live fowls thrust their heads out of crates as you pass, and at your bidding, are sacrificed on the execution block; or if you prefer to do your own high execution, you can take them alive and squaking under your arm. This group is most picturesque in the evening when the tables are lighted with candles or flickering oil lamps without chimneys.

Springs at the Capitol comes with swift and decisive steps—barring inauguration years—suddenly revealing a wealth of bloom and color quite overwhelming with its beauty, although robbed of the delicate, which attends her slower approach in more northern localities.

Spring quickens into life, the hundred slendering beauties with one swift embrace. There the awakening is more individual, the deepening color floods the face of the woods with slowly dawning realization, and one feels each day the nearing presence of the ardent life that is to awaken once more the sleeping splendor of the earth.

This year the foliage has been held in check, somewhat by the dryness of the season, thus the colors of the stems of trees and shrubs are having half a chance. The woods gleam with the gray satin lustre of the beeches, the deepening reds of the maples, the yellow of the sycamores, the delicate green of the willows; these colors serve as an excellent background for the pink blossoms of the Tudor tree, which is quite abundant, growing wild in the woods. The fragrance of hepaticas, anemones, arbutus and blood root betray their hiding places at the foot of trees. The blood root is exquisite, some blooms having just a hint of pink over their white petals and measure three inches across.

The foliage of the trees in the city is beginning to assert itself and is fast closing in with budding scenery the views down the long streets, narrowing out to a fine point the broad gray ribbon of the road beneath and diminishing the blue ribbon of the sky overhead till out in the distance, between the rows of trees and gray meet and unite.

It has been thought that winter is the best time to see Washington. But now, as the still life of the landscape every tree and bush is stirring with the reincarnation of its past promises and desires, when the blossoms on the magnolia trees "look like a great flock of white doves", the fallen petals making a circle on the grass beneath as if the noon-day sun had cast their shadows in snowy white—now it would be hard indeed to say that this is not the best time to see Washington.

G. C. DeW.

Halley's Comet of 1910.

In view of the great and growing interest which is shown in regard to the most celebrated comet which has visited us for many years and which will soon be visible to the naked eye, I am induced to write this article, calling attention to many of the readers of this paper. It is but a few weeks since we had a visit from one of these "wanderers in space" and to those who had never seen a Comet before, it was a very interesting sight. But the Comet which so suddenly burst in upon us, known as the "Inness Comet," was triumphant, the dates as announced being exact within a few days. The identity of this comet was now fully established and the attention of scientists directed to its next return and the work has been so much done that soon after the day, hour and minute are known when Halley's will next be at perihelion on May 18th next. All eyes are watching for this event and once more the results will prove the mathematical science and skill of the astronomers as shown in their work so many years in advance of its actual occurrence.

Now just a word here which may interest some of the older persons in town. There is one person to my knowledge who has once witnessed the coming and going of this remarkable comet. Mr. William W. Raymond of East Weymouth known to you all, is one of the very few who has ever had a seeing knowledge of Halley's and he distinctly remembers it in 1855, he being at that time 12 years of age. Now in his 87th year he will probably again see the return of this wonderful traveler, who goes far out into the unknown depths of space and who must see more of the vastness and magnificence of the immense collection of worlds and suns and systems than the human mind can ever imagine.

There is one other thing I would speak of; that is the great speed at which these bodies travel. While they always complete their revolutions in practically the same time, yet at different parts of their orbits they move with varying speed, according to their nearness to other bodies. They all revolve around the Sun, which is the great source of attraction, and always move at their fastest when coming in towards, and slowest, when the Sun, increasing their speed on the inward, and decreasing on the outward route.

Let us now follow "Halley's" itinerary as far as possible, as it leaves our regions, on its long journey to the unknown, beyond the unknown.

As the comet rushes by at perihelion on May 18th, and starts on its long trip outward, which is to occupy 38 years, we will eliminate the nearer planets, as far as its greatest brilliancy. It has also a new wonder to those who have lived in the long past ages, for it does not come to many to see any object twice as early as 120 years.

Comets have always been regarded in the past as harbingers of evil, either bringing in wars, pestilence, famine, floods, or the death of kings, and those in power have been known to sacrifice to the gods in the hope of averting the curse.

As the comet passes by the orbit of Saturn, 880,000 miles away, and keeping on its course between the Earth and Sun on May 18th, will be at a distance of about 11 or 15 million miles.

Enclosed find $2.00 for renewal of my subscription to the Gazette. I cannot afford to miss a single one of your excellent "The Gazette and Transcript."

Find here money order for $2.00 and keep it on your mailing list. I want the local news and the "Gathered up" review my life every week.

Dear Sir—That story, "Through the Wall," is the best yet, and we don't want to miss any part of it. Here are $2.00 for subscription renewal.

The above are but a part of one day's sunshine which came to us this week, and we are in position to stand more of it, and are full believers in reciprocity. "Our Farm," "The Farm," "Gathered Up," "Social Events," and serial stories will be a more than sufficient reciprocity for any $2.00 which may come our way, and we will furnish book numbers of "Through the Wall," the brightest production of the celebrated novelist, Cleveland Moffet, to all new subscribers.

Monday Club.

The annual meeting was held this week, and the following were elected to fill the offices for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Harriet B. Voorhees; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Kate Pierce; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Pratt; recording secretary, Mrs. Frederica Cope; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Martin E. Hawes; treasurer, Mrs. Walter W. Horsford; executive committee, Mrs. Frank A. Peary, Mrs. James Ford, Mrs. J. Herbert Walsh, Mrs. Parker T. Dennis, Mrs. Granville W. Tinkham; members, Mrs. William H. Wildie, Mrs. Lester E. Thompson, Mrs. William C. Earle, custodian, Mrs. Wendall T. Dizer.

The club voted to send $300 to the Mayville College in Kentucky to aid a young girl to take a second year in this institution.

Children's Day will be observed on Saturday next in Old Fellow's Opera house. This will be a Costume Party and a good time may be expected.

County Christian Endeavor Convention.

The Sixth Annual "Facts" Day convention of the Norfolk County Christian Endeavor Union, held at the Old South Church, South Weymouth, proved to be a marked success in the glorious weather, the large number in attendance, the enthusiastic spirit of the meeting, and the social features of the occasion. Careful and extended preparations had been made by the entertaining society, which drew out many expressions of commendation from the visiting delegates.

The church was handsomely ornamented with the national colors and Christian Endeavor decorations. Miss Muriel Fearing, being chairman of the committee, the church building, with convention details on the reverse side. The exercises were in charge of Carl E. Hayward, of Quincy, executive secretary of the Union, who presided, and Miss Gertrude Lebaron, of Hingham, the assistant secretary. Mrs. Annie K. Lound presided at the organ, and Frank E. Lound conducted the piano services; the local society, assisted by Miss Alice Beulah, of Randolph, who sang a solo, acting as the choir, with the audience heartily uniting in the songs. Rev. Henry C. Alvord, of the Old South Church, led the afternoon devotional exercises, also speaking words of welcome, and Rev. G. C. Lamson, of Hyde Park, led the evening devotional service.

The general theme of the convention was "Greater Efficiency," presented under four heads: "Through New and More Active Junior and Intermediate Societies," by Secretary Carl E. Hayward; "Through More Active Committees," by George W. Logue, of Somerville; "Through Individual Consecration," by Rev. Milford E. Foshay, of Marlboro; and "Through Co-operation," by Rev. Charles H. Moss, of Malden.

The banquet in Fox Opera House at 5:45 was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in South Weymouth. Nearly four hundred sat down to the tables, sumptuously furnished with salads, scalloped oysters, coffee, rolls and butter, fancy pies, and ice cream. Miss Margaret B. Monroe was the efficient chairman of the banquet committee, which was aided by many workers of the Christian Endeavor and Ladies Aid Societies. All the school alumni and their friends, who are interested in music, are requested to meet at the High School building, Friday evening, April 29, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of forming a choral society. It is desired to arrange for a sufficient number of rehearsals, so that some music may be presented at the reunion in June. All those having copies of "Italy" are requested to bring them.

EUROPEAN TRAVEL NO. 11.

Smyrna.

Dear Marie:

Don't ask me why I am here for our movements have become as erratic as a golf ball in a bunker. We left Constantinople one evening and when we awoke were passing the plains of Troy. Naturally Homer, Paris and Helen were up for topics at the breakfast-table. Then where the Dardanelles narrowed we were shown where Xerxes built his bridge of boats, whereas his mighty host passed from Asia to Europe. Naturally this brought out the fact that his first bridge builders failed, and when the bridge broke to pieces Xerxes calmly hung them on high scaffolds as a sign to their successors the rewards might be delayed, failures met with prompt attention.

We reached Smyrna during the night, and in the morning found ourselves anchored among hundreds of ships, in the middle of a magnificent bay. The city hangs the water on the southern side, and surrounds a high hill upon which the ruins of a mighty fortress raise their massive walls. You know that Smyrna is wonderfully old, and in it and about it are woven much of the world's history. Seven times have earthquakes reduced it to ruin, many times seven has it been raised competing armadas. Its name occurs in the Bible, and in its immediate vicinity are the ruins of Ephesus, of Antioch, and I cannot begin to tell you the other historic spots where Jew and Pagan fought, where the great Alexander had and where the hosts of Assyria and Babylon reduced the inhabitants to bondage.

We were soon ashore in the narrow streets, and at the peril of our persons visited the Bazaar that in some measure equal those of the capital city. We witnessed the arrival of a caravan straight from Damascus. Huge camels, awkward dromedaries, laden with silk and spices, and driven by smart Arabs, who were veritable arsenals of arms. As four thousand years ago, so now, this ship of the desert transports the riches of the East over the same road wherein Paul was struck blind.

In the shops of the Turk as always calm and indifferent, the Greek volatile and persuasive, and the Armenian fawning and insistent. Our vice-counsel says that the Turkish proverb hath it "The Christian cheats the Turk; the Jew cheats the Christian; the Greek cheats the Jew; and the Armenian cheats them all." We were I suppose cheated, but mainly by the Turk as in his words we found what was rarest to us, to wit, "Ladies' delight" a delicious confection from fresh figs. And speaking of figs, those here surpass those of all other places and we were never sated the sometimes gorged with their succulent sweetness.

Of course we visited the ruins of the huge amphitheatre and were shown the spot where Polycarp suffered martyrdom whilst the thousands shouted in derision. Amidst these fallen ruins have been held the rites of a score of religions, and in the city at its feet, more than a score now flourish. The Turk has much tolerance for every religion, not hated, only profound contempt for fools who believe not the prophet, and the when religions wars have broken out, he spaces no unbeliever, ordinarily he looks with calm indifference on the dogs who know not the Koran.

We have visited the ruins of Ephesus, whose fragments strew a wide plain at the foot of the hills. "Great is Diana of the Ephesians" and here arose a great city whose inhabitants lived mainly through the fame of the goddess. The ground is still dotted with broken columns exquisitely carved, and mutilated remains of noble statues are scattered everywhere. We are told that Greek, Christian and Turk have plundered the temples, that Persian and Arab have broken and destroyed, that earthquakes have shattered for forty centuries the shrines which once adorned this ancient city of luxury and pomp, but the sites of many of the temples are still in evidence of the marvelous structures which once arose on this now desolate plain. Amongst these ruined columns moved not only mythical Diana and Apollo, but also Alcibiades, Hannibal, Pompey and Antony, and the same Antony who began his suit of Cleopatra at this very spot, and from this separating the two set stoners sail on their voyage of pleasure in barges with silver oars, "which to the music of—oh! an escort too romantic, and I had best come back to realities before you think me soft."

At a meeting of the Singing Society on Wednesday evening, held at the office of Elias Richards Esq., Mr. G. W. Lincoln was chosen a director, and also Mr. F. H. Tilden was chosen a director and librarian. It was voted to give a complimentary benefit to Mrs. C. G. Thompson.

The Temple Drum Corps held their annual meeting in Turner's building on Monday evening. A list of prizes was agreed upon and other business transacted for the coming year. The following officers were chosen:—Leader and Conductor, C. Will Bailey; Clerk, W. C. Pease; Agent, A. B. Hollis.

The following are the officers of the parish:—First Universalist Parish Committee, Elias Richards, David L. Sterling, G. W. White, W. K. Baker, George S. Baker, Alexander Sherman, George E. Porpoise, Joseph W. Armstrong, Charles P. Hunt, H. Austin Peterson, Peter Lane, Clerk, Eleanor F. Holmes; Treasurer and Collector, Martin K. Pratt.

About the 10th of March, Dr. Wm. A. Drake with his wife, visited this place, with several strange to our people. Advising with several leading residents, he was informed that our former skillful physician and surgeon had removed to another village, and that we were ready to encourage the settlement of a good physician here. Dr. Drake at once leased the residence of the late James Thomas and has met with unexpected success, his practice increasing daily and proving the need of a doctor here.

On Nov. 26, 1862, Capt. Colby married Mary A. Haskell of his native town and for a number of years, she was a partner in his son's voyages and now, with two sons, George H. and William J., and two daughters, Mary N. and Elizabeth C., wife of J. S. Belts, of New York city, survives him.

Funeral services were held at his late home this morning and the remains conveyed to New Bedford where other services will be held this afternoon and burial will be at Oak Hill Cemetery in that city. Capt. Colby was a member of the Provident Marine Society, which at one time, numbered 120 retired sea captains, and is now by death reduced to 8.

NOT A STAR FOR ME.—(For the Gazette.)

As wise men over eastern plains

That nameless star is led

And paled from sight when on their eyes

The Sun of glory shone.

So, Lord, make me a lowly star,

A light to lead to thee,

Only to when thou art found

That thine the glory be.

Of all the constellated lights

Alas! I am but a star

Right up from earth to Heavenly heights.

Keep not a star for me.

For while thy gracious gift—I'd wear

Whatever crown were mine,

Still thine, thine only would I see

In starry splendor shine.

For making fine, rich, or plain food, equally valuable and saving.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

Following Are a Few of the Items Which Appeared in the Gazette Thirty Years Ago This Week.

The nailers in the employ of the Weymouth Iron Co., have suspended work for two weeks.

Mr. Cyrus Ticehill has gone to Texas to visit his son who is in the cattle-raising business in that state.

Mr. and Mrs. E. the editor and his lady, are making a trip to Washington and Richmond. During the absence of the editor, the Gazette will be issued under the management of W. H. Trott.

At a meeting of the Singing Society on Wednesday evening, held at the office of Elias Richards Esq., Mr. G. W. Lincoln was chosen a director, and also Mr. F. H. Tilden was chosen a director and librarian. It was voted to give a complimentary benefit to Mrs. C. G. Thompson.

The Temple Drum Corps held their annual meeting in Turner's building on Monday evening. A list of prizes was agreed upon and other business transacted for the coming year. The following officers were chosen:—Leader and Conductor, C. Will Bailey; Clerk, W. C. Pease; Agent, A. B. Hollis.

The following are the officers of the parish:—First Universalist Parish Committee, Elias Richards, David L. Sterling, G. W. White, W. K. Baker, George S. Baker, Alexander Sherman, George E. Porpoise, Joseph W. Armstrong, Charles P. Hunt, H. Austin Peterson, Peter Lane, Clerk, Eleanor F. Holmes; Treasurer and Collector, Martin K. Pratt.

Hitherto—Joseph H. Bass.

After a very short illness, Joseph H. Bass of South Weymouth, passed away early Monday morning, April 18th.

While in his usual health last Friday, he was working about his place until nearly four o'clock in the afternoon when he was overcome by a stroke of paralysis.

He was picked up in an unconscious state and taken into the house. Medical aid was summoned, but it was of no avail, as he remained peacefully without his regaining consciousness.

Gratifying to remember that the grandest temple in Asia and the most exquisite creation in India were both to glory women and that each possessed, as we know women always have possessed, the power of divination.

Weymouth High School Alumni.

All members of the Weymouth High School Alumni and their friends, who are interested in music, are requested to meet at the High School building, Friday evening, April 29, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of forming a choral society. It is desired to arrange for a sufficient number of rehearsals, so that some music may be presented at the reunion in June. All those having copies of "Italy" are requested to bring them.

Textile Machinery Exhibit.

An exhibition that is rousing much interest in the Textile circles of New England is the coming one to be held in Mechanics Building, Boston, April 27-30.

Under the auspices of the Textile Exhibitors Association. Last year was the beginning of a series of exhibitions by this association and it was so successful that this year one of the finest and most complete shows of Textile Machinery and finished product ever held in New England, will be the result.

A new department has been created, which will feature the latest in Textile Machinery and finished product.

The Botany class has secured some excellent specimens for analysis and are doing some attractive experiments.

The base ball team met defeat at Wakefield, Saturday, May 1. Cate pitched a fine game, but poor support was the cause of the defeat. The team plays Dorchester, Thursday.

The school committee has been requested to change the date of the graduation from June 26 to the 24th for the benefit of those who are to take college examinations.

The warm spring days are keeping Mr. Beane busy at the lunch counter serving cornucopias to the large number of patrons.

A party of 81 young people, 25 of whom came from Weymouth and East Braintree, joined in an all-day excursion on Patriot's day, under the leadership of Rev. C. F. Hill Catherlin in the Blue Hills.

One hundred and eighty members and guests of the Appalachian Mountain Club of Boston, passed through Braintree and Weymouth in a special train bound for Greenbush, on the South Shore. The special stopped at Braintree to take on a party of fifteen from this vicinity.

Arriving at Greenbush there was a most delightful cross country walk to Third Cliff, Scituate, where after a half hour's walk the party stopped for lunch on the beach.

After lunch had been disposed of and the more strenuous members of the party had played ball to their hearts' content, the walk was resumed along the shore to the Second and First Cliffs. An ideal outing day followed.

Dennis Coakley, a former resident of these places, died at his home in Boston on Friday, the cause being pneumonia.

Mr. Coakley was a native of Ireland, having been born there about 67 years ago.

He came to this country in early youth, landing in Boston on June 21, 1861, and served until 1864 at Calvary cemetery.

The High grammar school base ball team struck out the Athens school team in a hotly contested game at Garfield Park, yesterday afternoon. The score was 3 to 0.

Mrs. E. B. Pratt went to Worcester on Wednesday, returning today.

While there she was the guest of Mrs. Edward Davis.

—Mrs. R. H. Dix is visiting her parents in Warren.

The next Sunday School supper of the Universalist church will be given next Friday, April 29, in the vestry.

The Ladies Circle of the Universalist church will hold its next meeting next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—Mrs. Ella Davis visited relatives in Worcester this week Wednesday and Thursday.

The Universalist Men's Club held its monthly meeting on Monday last. A supper of meat pies, cake and ice cream was served at 6.45 by the ladies.

Rev. R. H. Carey was one of the after-dinner speakers at the Christian Endeavor Convention held at the Old South Church, Tuesday.

NORTH WEYMOUTH.

—Alvah Glover Salmon of New York, piano recital at M. E. church, East Weymouth, next Thursday at 7.45 p. m.

—Capt. Hugh Thompson has sold his estate on Front street, consisting of a two and one-half story house and buildings and about an acre and a half of land to Mr. Noaman of Ashton, who is a member of the Boston Fire Department.

Mr. Thompson and wife will move to their new cottage at Hampton Hill, Nantasket Beach, where they will spend the summer.

—Mr. and Mrs. James Martin of Front street are the happy parents of a girl born recently.

—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Moor have returned to their home on Columbus street, after a pleasant two weeks' vacation spent in visiting the interesting places in Washington, D. C.

—Court Wessagusset, No. 43 F. of A. was for a fire in a brooder in a shed at the estate on Torrey's Lane owned by Michael McCann and occupied by Peter Balbin. The brooder and 36 chickens were burned, but the sheet was not damaged.

Mr. Balbin had his hand badly burned while extinguishing the fire which was all out before the department arrived.

—C. E. Edwards is home from a trip to Richmond, Virginia.

—Mr. John Galvin for many years a resident of East Braintree died at his home 17 Dalton street, Monday after a long illness, aged 61. He is survived by his widow and three daughters, Mrs. John Dugan of East Braintree and Misses Catherine and Agnes Galvin of Boston. The funeral took place Wednesday and by many from this place. Mr. Galvin was a blacksmith by trade and was employed by Thomas South for 20 years.

—The regular meeting of the South Weymouth Grange was held last Tuesday evening. Visitors from Webster Grange of Marshfield were present. During the lecture hour the pony problem was discussed. John Vincent led the discussion and was followed by Messers Clarence Fearing, William Radkin and others. Mrs. Harrington presented the Grange with a valuable oil painting in memory of her son, the late Charles Harrington. At the next meeting, May 3, there will be initiations of candidates and inspection of the Grange.

—The Weymouth Historical Society will meet at the Fogg Library building next Wednesday evening.

—Old South Church Notes.

—The Annual Meeting for the One Hundred and Eighty-seventh Year was held in the Vestry, Thursday evening, April 14. About one hundred were present at the beautiful supper provided by the Ladies' Aid Society. Rev. George F. Stanton, of Boston, the former pastor, was the guest of the evening, and made a short address, speaking with accustomed interest and force. Reports, showing that much efficient work had been done, were presented from the various departments. George C. Torrey was chosen deacon for another term of seven years. The annual elections were: Clerk, Clarence W. Fearing; treasurer, Gilmore B. Loud; auditor, George C. Torrey; superintendent of Sunday school, Matthew R. Loud; additional members of Church committee: Mrs. Alma Marsha, Miss Margaret B. Monroe. Other matters of business received attention.

—The Walk-Over Athletic Club opened its season Tuesday, April 19, by defeating Hovey 7, the score being 17 to 8. The Walk-Over Club started the game by making five runs in the first inning, Gladwin pitching for Hovey 7. He gave place to Freeman, who held the Walk-Over two scatters until the seventh. Hovey 7 had been playing an up hill game, tied the score in the sixth, 7 to 7. In the seventh the Walk-Over boys fathomed Freeman's delivery and made four runs. In the eighth, the boys scored six more runs. In the first of the ninth the men made one run but that was all they could do and the game was ended. Mr. Freeman broke the saying that pitchers are usually poor hitters, by making one of the longest hits ever made on the field. F. Curtis also contributed a three bager for the boys. A good attendance witnessed the game. Mr. Charles Nash umpired. After the game, the boys of the Walk-Over Club grouped together and posed for a picture taken by Miss Florence Nash.

—It is all right to weave a halo about the past, to regard it as a golden age; but, if our inclination to idealize the past is going to make us blind to the things of the present, then this inclination is all wrong.

Train the young horse to be a rapid walker; he will not learn it when he is older.

The cows should not be driven faster than a walk while on the way to the place of milking or feeding.

Don't throw out apples, potatoes or turnips where stock can get them, and choke. Either bury or slice them.

There's a good deal to talk about the apple show, the corn show, and so on. Almost any old crop has a good show if the farmer goes about it right.

It will pay any farmer to make his pony, try a special branch of his farming, and give it the same daily care and attention that he would his dairy cattle, horses or swine.

If tools are not used at large on range over a farm, by all means keep one hired and give them all the time, knowledge and attention possible. You will have something to show when you may be proud, and that will profit you financially as well.

John," said Mrs. Spenders, "I've got lots of things I want to talk to you about."

"Glad to hear it," said her husband, "usually you want to talk me out of things that you haven't got." —Stray Stories.

Pro—Do you say he was sincere when he said he loved you?

Dolly—I'm sure of it. He looked too foolish to be making believe—Lippincott's Magazine.

"How do you pronounce s-s-i-n-g-y?" the teacher asked the young gentleman nearest the foot of the class. And the smart boy stood up and said it depended a great deal whether the word applied to a man or a bee.—London News.

Some breeders claim that eggs can be selected from which males and females can be hatched at will. Old hens mated with cockerels produce about 75 per cent pullets, while mating pullets with old cocks, gives a greater per cent of cockerels.

The sooner soil is harrowed after being plowed the more completely will it retain the moisture at and near the surface, for the blanket of fine, mellow earth thus made keeps a rapid evaporation of the moisture.

A lecturer states that a man can set himself up as the owner of a tidy farm with a capital of $2550. It can be said that many of the most successful farmers started with less than one-tenth this amount in cash.

Watch the little chicks hunt for the tender sprouts of green growing things. Green food is a great help in securing strong thrifty chicks and rapid growth. When green stuff is scarce early in the spring we divide the early crop of lettuce with the chicks. Sometimes we chop up onions for them.

The onion thrives best in a rich, well-drained, loamy soil. To plant in heavy clays, hillsides and sandy land is a mistake. The ground on onions should have been in some heavily manured, hard crop the preceding season, and practically free from weed seed. Onions cannot thrive on weedy or rundown land.

Secretary Wilson says that the greatest crop of America are grass and corn. Next after corn is probably cotton, then comes wheat and poultry running close together. The product of the hen crop is now nearly as valuable as that of the wheat fields.

The science of agriculture must help us to plant food to the soil and to maintain its fertility. Some farmers think you are going to teach the art of agriculture. That is a mistake. You should teach us that the farmer doesn't know and that he can't get by getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning and working hard all day—teach what the soil contains, what the crop takes out of it, what is required by the soil to grow good crops for a thousand years.

Washington came to be president because he had a trained mind and could see a series of relations instead of isolated facts. If today we undertook to reorganize society and turned for a man like Washington, we couldn't find one, as we have to be produced such minds and now run to the specialized type—Brooks Adams.

Human manure is too concentrated a fertilizer to be put on the land literally, as is done with other manures. It should be mixed with dust or litter while accumulating, and even then one should spread the stuff sparingly. We have known of mature apple trees being knocked out by getting up to 4 o'clock in the morning and working hard all day—teach what the soil needs to supply the material?

Not one of the numerous spring vegetables is more troublesome than asparagus, a small bed of which will be sufficient to furnish all a family will want and some to spare. In starting a bed small plants may be used or portions of the roots of an old bed secured before the sprouts start. The plants should be set out to a depth of about eight inches in soil made mellow and enriched with a good supply of well rotted stable manure.

Force of Habit.

"Why did you break your engagement with that school teacher?" asked the friend.

"I failed to show up at her house every evening, she expected me to bring a written excuse signed by my mother."

"H. L. Horton in Woman's Home Companion for May.

GATHERED UP.

The people are all going to behave better, but not now.

Considering how worthless dogs are, we often wonder why the Lord invented so many different kinds.

Always stand up for the right, but do not wear yourself out with worrying because you can not turn the world and make it over in a day.

Don't throw out apples, potatoes or turnips where stock can get them, and choke. Either bury or slice them.

It will pay any farmer to make his pony, try a special branch of his farming, and give it the same daily care and attention that he would his dairy cattle, horses or swine.

If tools are not used at large on range over a farm, by all means keep one hired and give them all the time, knowledge and attention possible. You will have something to show when you may be proud, and that will profit you financially as well.

It is good to understand that the Honorable Billy, the other day, "I'm not such a fool as I look."

The weather man seems to have got things mixed up this week, and is delivering the goods in an unusual manner. Ice snow, sleet and destroyed crops from 60 to 75 in Nova Scotia and peaches, cherries, pears and early apples in bloom in Massachusetts.

The Mansfield Board of Trade has adopted a very pleasant and original slogan for its 1915 movement. It is "A better Mansfield to look at, a better Mansfield to live in." The slogan of Somerville is: "The extermination of mosquitoes in stagnant pools." The slogan of the Boston 1915 committee is: "A safer and more sanitary celebration of the Fourth of July." The slogan of the South Weymouth 1920 movement is: "..."

An interesting article "Each Do His Part" is to be found elsewhere in this issue. It may be found in the line of village improvement and cleanliness. There are some parts of the town where you never see waste paper and refuse blowing about the streets, and in some others where there might be an improvement if a little more attention was paid by merchants and peddlers in disposing of waste paper and picking boxes. Let the proper offices give the peddlers a call down and in other directions let "Each Do His Part" and have the center of the town as tidy as North and South Weymouth.

Often a town's bitterest critics are those that do the least for it. It doesn't matter much where you live, if you look sharp you can find something in which your town excels all other places. If you are a loyal citizen, that's the thing you will talk about. A good way to destroy it is to "kick it down." It should not however you in talk. Weymouth has a population of over 32,000 people and most of them are old enough to take an active interest in something beside filling their stomachs; yet while Weymouth is up to and above the average of good workers the real push and work for improvement is done by the few.

"What are you here for," is a remark we heard on the street, Monday morning and while the remark was not addressed to us personally we made a personal application of it to the following extent: We are here as the purveyor of petty local news—the births, the marriages, the deaths, the goings and the comings of the neighbors. This is all helpful and of interest. The bright thread woven into the web of country and village life is the golden thread of friendship, a variety, neighborly friendship, of a variety practically unknown in the great cities.

We are here to bring out the individuality or what we may call color of the home town. Something of this can generally be found in every place if sought for. Weymouth is a town of individuality in its territory, its people, its institutions and its industries and there was never a louder call for every man to find out what is here for and then do all in his power for a general uplift.

Selectmen's Meeting.

At the meeting of the Selectmen on Monday in addition to regular routine business the town treasurer was authorized to issue eight notes of $10,000 each, in anticipation of taxes for the current year. Willard B. Loun and Arthur G. Bates were appointed special police and the following licenses were granted: Four exes, A. W. Baker, H. K. Cushing and Chester H. Rogers; pool room, A. F. Sherman; victuallers, Hans Alexander, A. F. Sherman, Mrs. Wm. Tobin, Dominic Ghiarzi, Frank M. McCarthy, Patrick Casey and Louis Buachir.

Be Sweet and Sing.

If things don't go to suit with you, What you do is just sing. You can't find back the sunshine That's missing from the sky. Nor frown away the winter. In wishing it were spring. The wishes think to do, my friend, Is just keep sweet and sing.

A song will make a burden light, while a song Ables to the load we carry. We can't tell how why.

We only know it do, And the lilt and swing of a song make happy heart. So just keep sweet and sing.

Don't fret and fume and worry. And make things worse, say I. Since we can't help what's happened.

So just sing on the morrow. The clouds will all take wing.

Believe God knows what is best. So just keep sweet and sing.

Our Town.

Mr. Editor:—

Very soon after the coming of the Pilgrims to Plymouth, in 1620, the shores of Weymouth attracted attention and became the location of the second settlement.

It has, of late, been almost startling to see how the judgment of the first settlers, as to the importance of Weymouth's rivers, coast-lines and adjacent harbors, is being corroborated by the opinions of the men of action today.

We have had this thought forced upon us by seeing the great villages of summer cottages along the seashore at North Weymouth; by the locating of the famous fishing plant upon Fore River; by the establishment of the National Magazine near Back River and by the much discussed Brockton Canal across our borders to deep water.

The Boston Journal of to-day, April 26, gives space to the project of Edward L. Burwell for the solution of the commercial problems of Boston and Massachusetts. He proposes the building of a mammoth dock, which shall include Granite Island, 1636 a part of the territory of Weymouth, and, in connection with it, a great railroad terminal. Hull Bay might then become the point of departure for the great mail steamship lines and the chief harbor, on this side, of transatlantic commerce. It would be the short route harbor for the transporting of freight to and from the United States and England.

What the May Woman's Home Companion Contains.

The current springtime number of this always interesting magazine contains an extraordinary variety of spring and summer suggestions. The cover design is unusually attractive, even for the Woman's Home Companion, and the entire magazine lives up to the standard set by the cover.

Miss Nash has decided to put on the cover which she has been preparing for the next fall.

The base ball game will play its first game Tuesday with Hingham High at Clapp's field. Former games with Hingham have been marked by the great enthusiasm of both teams and an interesting game is expected. The admission for members of the school will be ten cents and for others fifteen cents. The game will be called at about 3:30.

Miss Nash has decided to put on the cover which she has been preparing for the next fall.

Flora Harriett is working after school hours in the office of Clapp's factory.

Carl Loud and Harold Cate were guests of Kenneth Nas at Providence, Saturday.

The Junior French class is reading "La Tulipe Noire."

The composition class of the college English division has been to write descriptive accounts of classical poetry.

The dance Friday evening for the benefit of the Athletic Association was a marked success. A good sum was netted which has greatly added to the treasury.

The matrons were Mrs. E. Sampson, Mrs. L. Pratt, and Mrs. T. Nash.

The base ball game with Dorchester resulted in a victory for the Weymouth High nine by a score of 10 to 5. The game was marked by the poor fielding and hitting of Dorchester, while timely hits and fast fielding won the game for Weymouth. The pitching of Cate and the clever catches of Alford and Hackett were playmates.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Crescent Lodge Celebrates.

The annual celebration of Oldfellowship in America has become a real master by the fraternity throughout the land and in accordance with the well established custom. Crescent Lodge No. 82, Wompatack Encampment No. 18, and Steadfast Rockfall Lodge No. 98, joined in a celebration of the 91st anniversary in Old Fellows building, Friday night.

The report cards will be issued Tuesday.

It is desired that those of the senior class who are writing class essays, shall have them turned in by May 25.

The chemistry classes has been doing some complicated experiments with the compounds of zinc and magnesium.

The base ball team will play its first game Tuesday with Hingham High at Clapp's field. Former games with Hingham have been marked by the great enthusiasm of both teams and an interesting game is expected. The admission for members of the school will be ten cents and for others fifteen cents. The game will be called at about 3:30.

Old Colony Driving Club.

The half mile track at the grounds of the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society, South Weymouth has been resurfaced and otherwise materially improved and on Saturday afternoon of the 26th of the Old Colony Driving Club which had so many interesting races there last season had a sort of informal opening and a try out for new contestants and several new contestants for blue ribbons and the honor of capturing the first and last blue ribbon fell to Joseph Cummings.

There will be a more formal opening tomorrow Saturday afternoon and the club propose to continue Saturday afternoons until the last of October with J. F. Young of Quincy as superintendent of the track.

and generally, but only to themselves—auto-givers they might be called.

Second, those who give thoughtlessly, without any real or high motive—givers of the occasion, as it were.

Third, those who give as a sop to conscience and self-esteem in a species of atonement for the evil they do—penitential givers.

Fourth, those who give as a matter of duty, to win public applause for their generosity—their good works.

Fifth, those who give because others give, like the popular saying, "If you give, I will give."

Sixth, those who give because they feel they ought to give; who give through a sense of duty and not through love—moral givers.

Seventh, those who give in the spirit of Jesus; who give because they love their neighbor as themselves, and above all things desire to help him—spiritual givers.

To which do you belong?

There are lots of men who will sing with gusto in a missionary meeting.

That were a present far too small.

But when the collection plate is put under their nose and they are asked to put their sentiments into cold, hard cash, they drop a five cent piece upon it with the sign of regret which suggests these other well known lines:

When we asunder part,
It gives us inward pain.</p

—Much praise is due the members of the Father Lights Society for the splendid success of the missionary concert given by them last Sunday evening. It was entitled "America Welcoming the Nations".

The church was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting. The decorations along with the costumes of varied colors worn by the young ladies representing the various countries, made a striking and pleasant effect.

The devotional services of the evening were conducted by the pastor. This was followed by an interesting exercise by the children entitled "Our Land for Christ". The exercise by the Father Light Society. Delegates from several churches of Clark Union were present. The concert was of such high character and each part was so well taken and so pleasing to the several hundred present that it is deserving of repetition in the near future.

Union Church Notes.

—The Communion Service and Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated at the close of the preaching service next Sunday morning.

—Two of the ablest platform speakers of the country have been secured for the Men's supper to be given by the men of the parish on Wednesday evening, May 11 at 6:30 o'clock. The Hon. Franklin H. Wentworth of Salem, one of the foremost Social speakers of the country, and the Rev. George L. Cady, D. of Boston, the pastor of the Pilgrim church in Dorchester. The subject to be debated by these two masterly speakers is "Resolved that the adoption of the principles of Socialism would abolish the economic evils in the United States". Mr. Wentworth preaches the doctrines of Socialism with all the impassioned eloquence and fervor of an apostle. He is a cultured and educated gentleman, whose heart and soul are on fire with noble earnestness and the burning conviction that Socialism holds the key to remedy all economic evils. He is in great demand as a platform speaker all over the country. The week after he speaks here he will devote a speaking tour in Chicago. Dr. Cady who will take the negative of the debate, is one of the few ministers competent to meet Mr. Wentworth on the platform. Dr. Cady has made a special study of Socialism for years and is a most gifted and able speaker. It will be a spirited and intensely interesting debate between two masters of platform discussion.

—The chorus for the High School Reunion will meet at 8 p.m. Friday night at the High School Building. Bring copies of Italia and Hoy. Lovley is the messenger from "St. Paul".

—Rev. Daniel Roy Freeman, minister of All Souls' church, will preach for them next Sunday morning at 10:30. Subject will be "Encouraging Witnesses".
